The Liberty Parks Ecosystem Matrix

Asset Name	Zone	Primary Function	Signature Feature
Creekside, Lapolt, Main St Stage	Village Core	Civic Gathering & Heritage	Brickwork paths & community gardens
Skate Park & Public Courts	Village Core	Youth Athletics	Community-funded infrastructure

The Village Core: Civic Pride & Heritage

Lapolt Park

Features brick-paved pathways and a central gazebo. Sullivan Renaissance gardens are maintained by dedicated community volunteers. Includes historic donations from the Liberty Lions Club (1979).

Creekside Park

Quiet streamside seating and walking paths located just steps from downtown infrastructure, offering immediate access to nature.

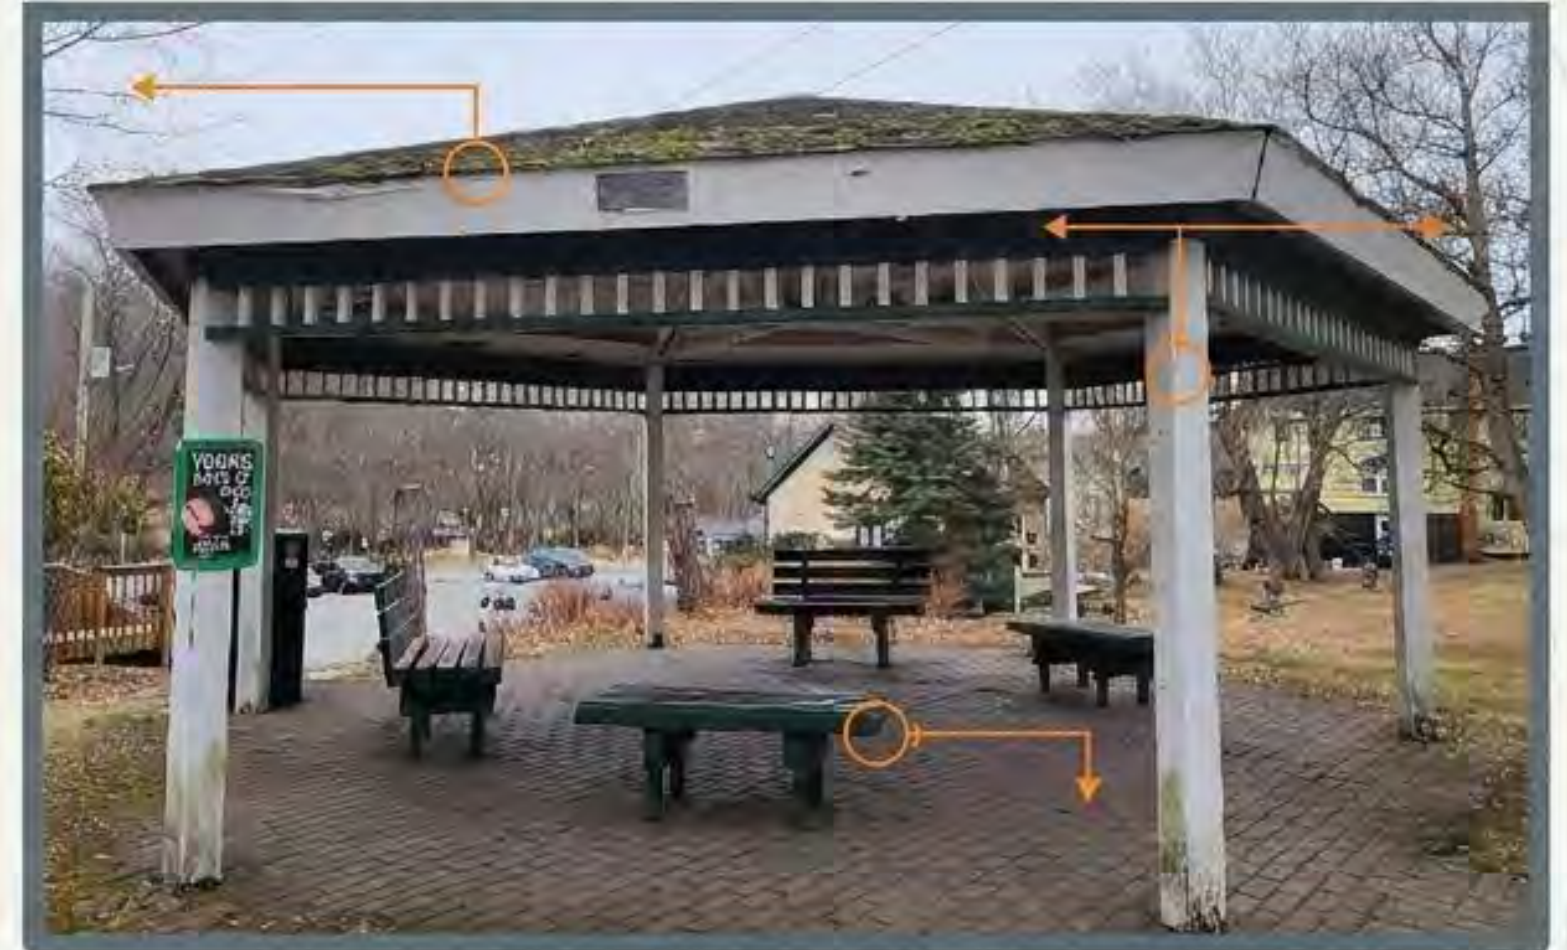

Main Street Stage

A vital venue for civic gathering and the arts. Constructed collaboratively by Sullivan Co. BOCES classes between 1996-1998.

Lapolt Park acts as the epicenter of downtown civic life but requires modernization

Identity

The most visible, heavily used public space on North Main Street, anchoring festivals, concerts, and holiday celebrations.

Strengths

Prime location, community-maintained gardens, and brickwork paths.

Vulnerabilities

The aging stage/pavilion shows significant weathering. Deteriorating green benches make seating less inviting.

Growth Potential

Upgrading event infrastructure (electrical access, lighting) and modernizing the pavilion are required to maintain its status as a downtown destination.

Creekside Park balances recent safety interventions with ongoing stabilization needs

Identity

Peaceful natural integration within the municipal core.

Recent Progress

Installation of new safety guard rails near the creek and the addition of family picnic tables to encourage community gathering.

Required Interventions

Critical resurfacing and creek bed stabilization are needed to prevent erosion and elevate the park's aesthetic appeal.

Strategic Pillars for the O&W Corridor

Evolving a beautiful trail into an interactive community space.

Accessibility & Arrival

Enhancing parking areas with thoughtful landscaping, clear trailhead signage, and ensuring ADA-compliant facilities along the entire route.

Environmental Immersion

Installing scenic pause points with benches near the creek. Adding interpretive signage highlighting local bird species to align with NYS birding initiatives.

Historical Connection

Adding educational markers detailing the legacy of the NYO&W Railway and the economic goods that once moved through State Street.

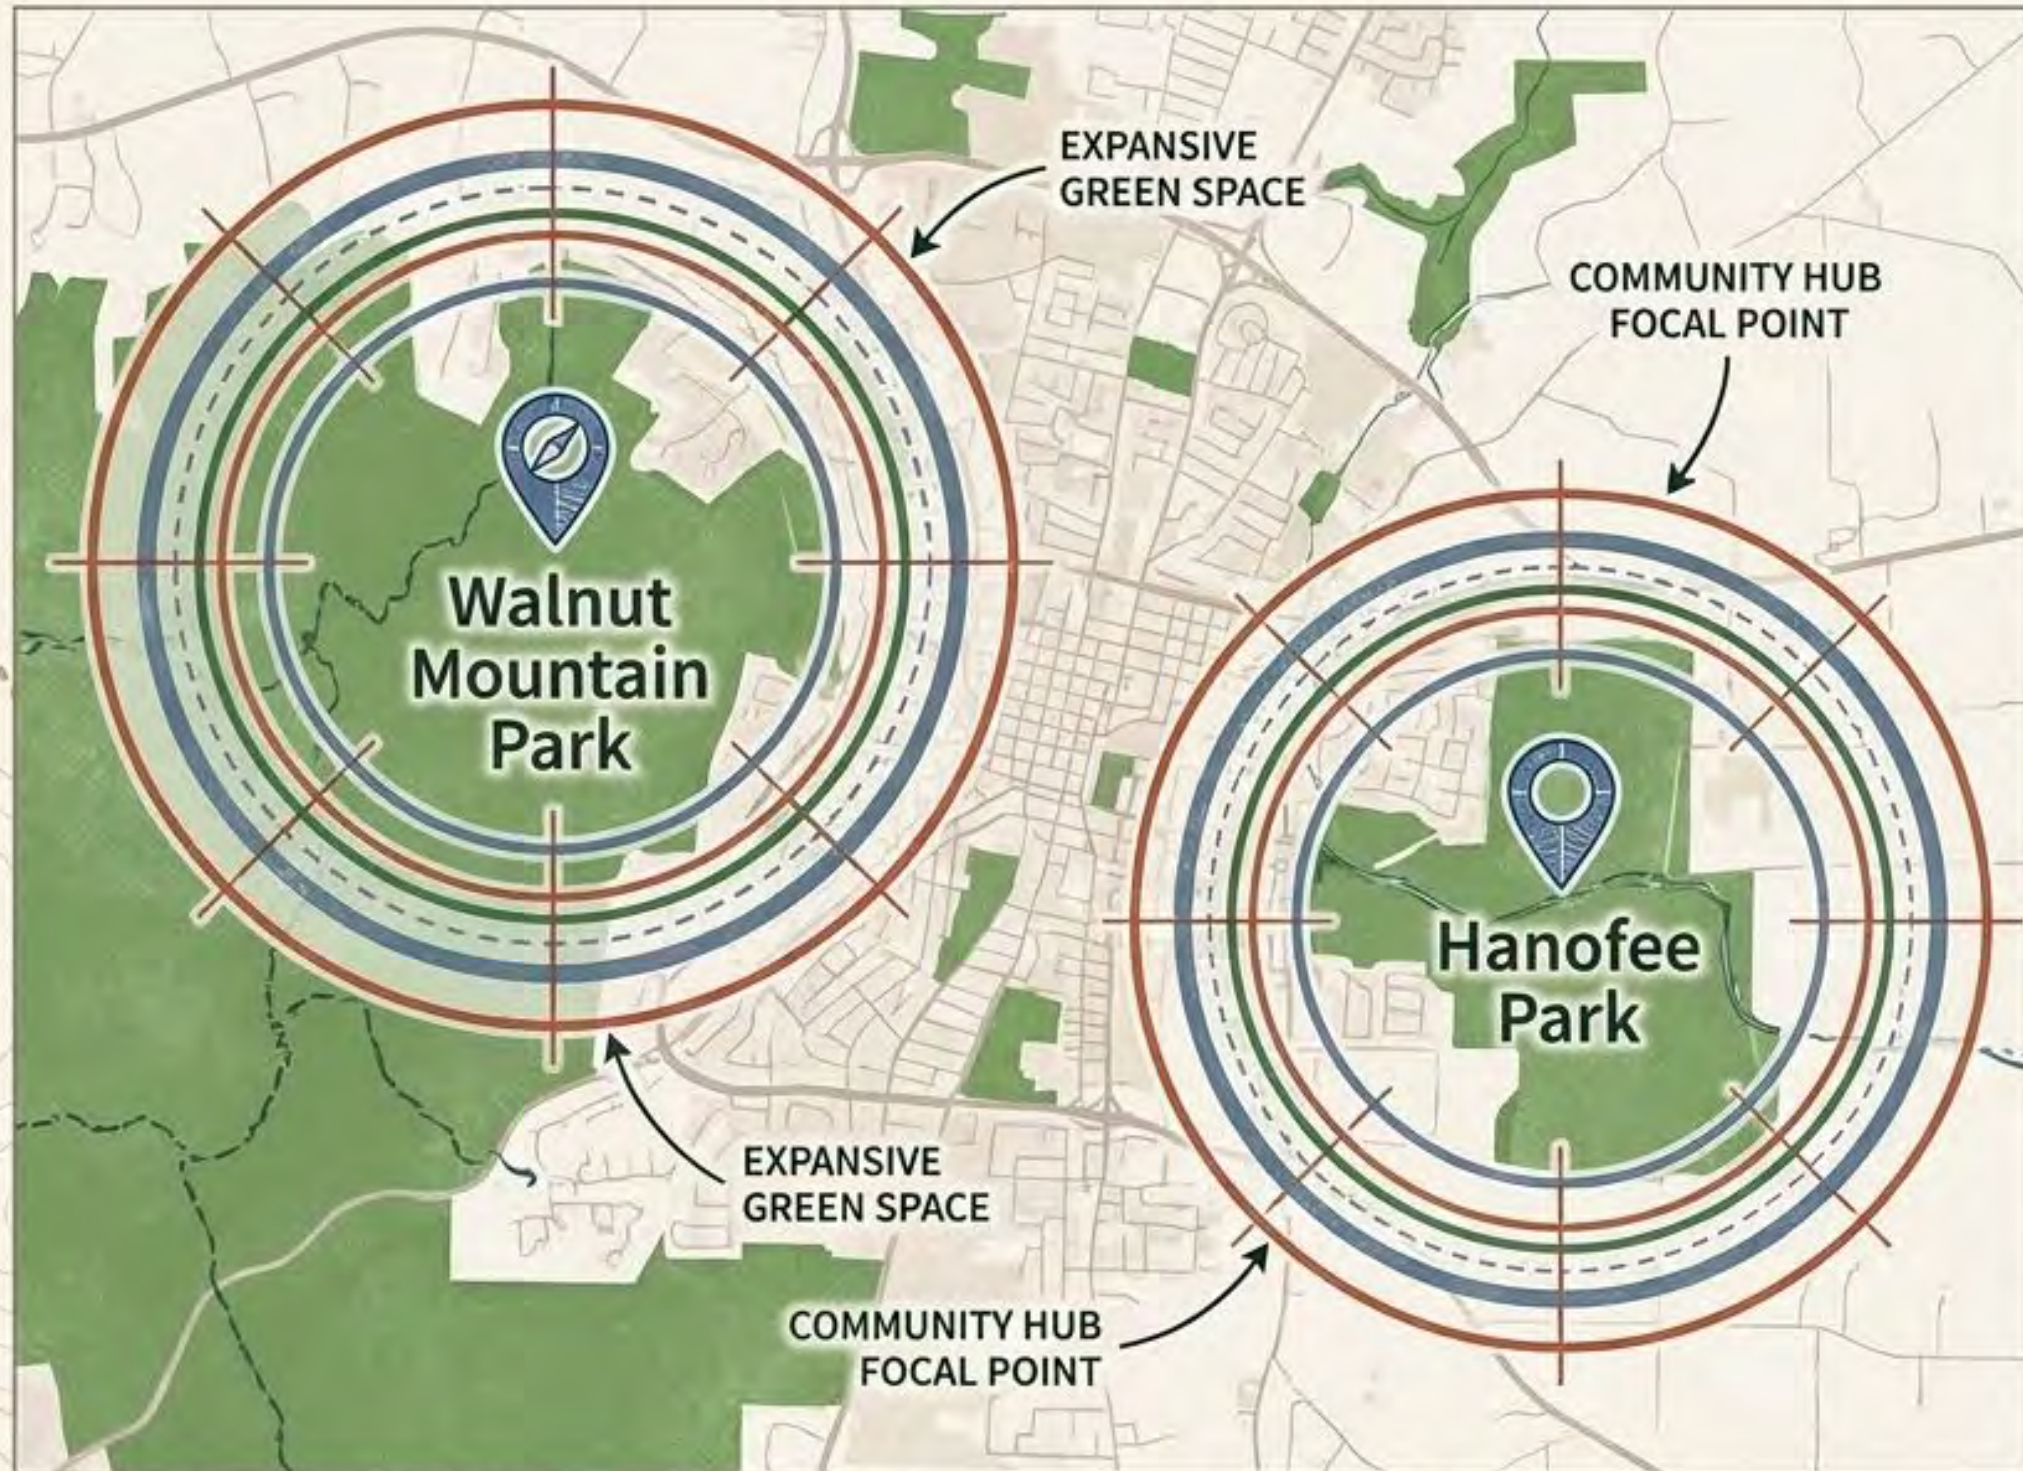

Family Engagement

Partnering with the local library to install a StoryWalk®, transforming a simple hike into an imaginative family literacy activity.

The Outskirt Hubs: Scaling Up

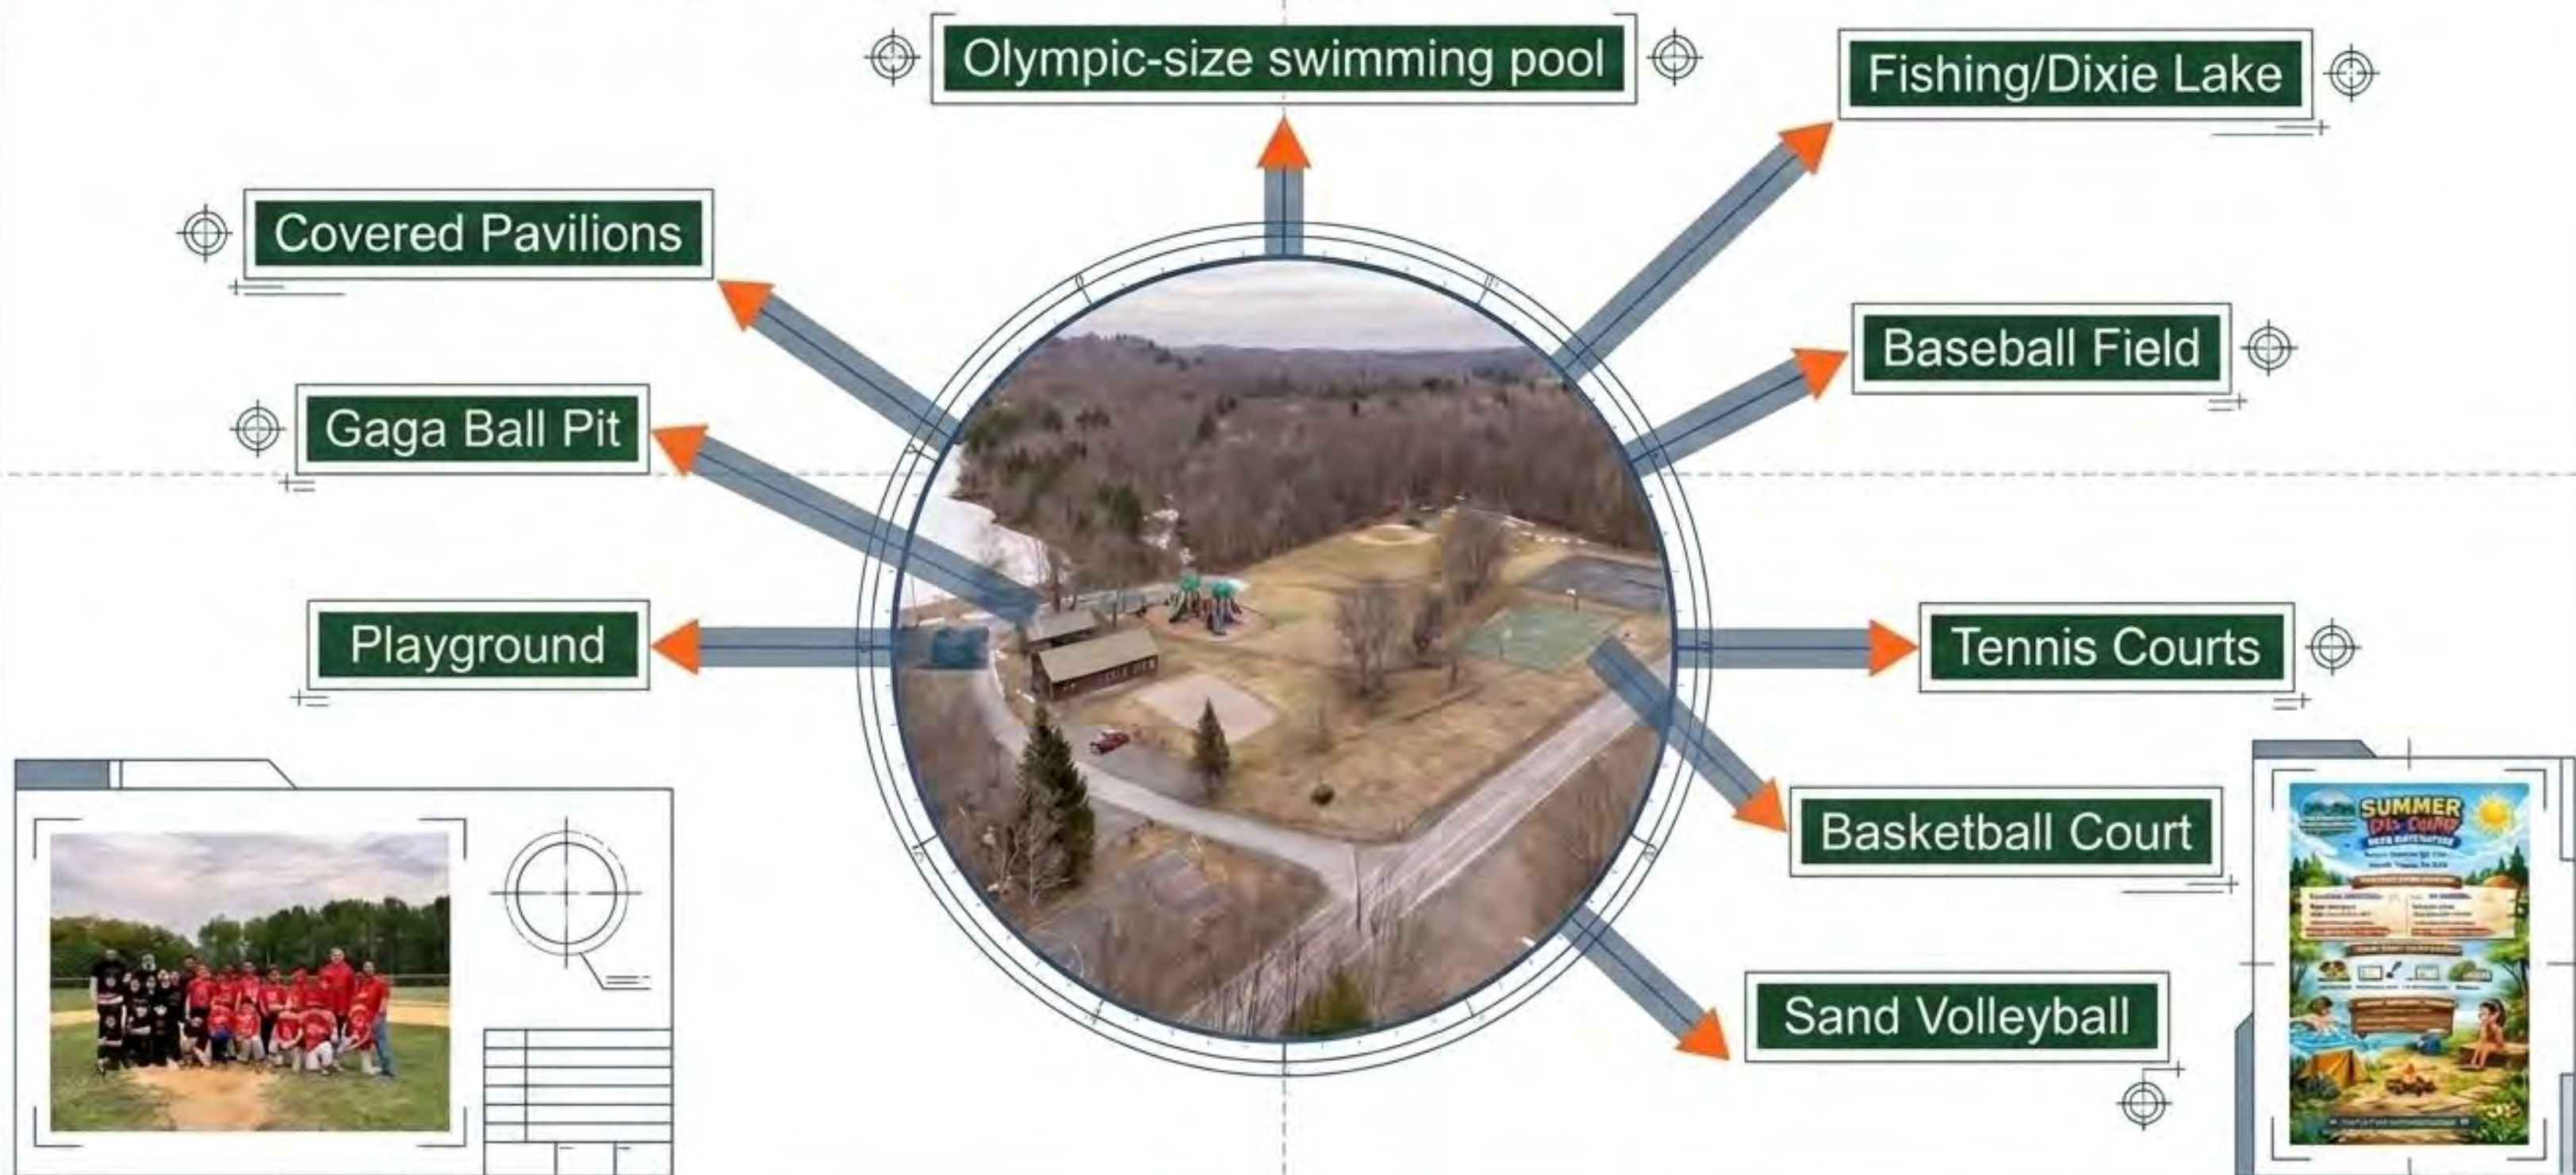

High-Capacity Recreation

While the Village Core provides daily civic gathering spaces, these two expansive parks serve as the township's high-capacity "Mega-Hubs".

They provide the critical infrastructure required for:

- Regional Tourism
- Organized Youth Athletics
- Immersive Ecological Education
- Large-scale Community Wellness

Hanofee Park is the undisputed engine of Liberty's active youth programming and summer camps.

Hanofee Park anchors high-capacity summer recreation but faces systemic aging

Severe infrastructure deficits transform existing community assets into localized liabilities

Across the ecosystem, massive, pre-graded, and fenced recreational footprints are failing to attract multi-generational use.

Severe structural cracking and surface deterioration limit safe usage, forcing maintenance dollars into facilities that yield low community engagement.

The Hub for Youth Development

Seasonal Programming

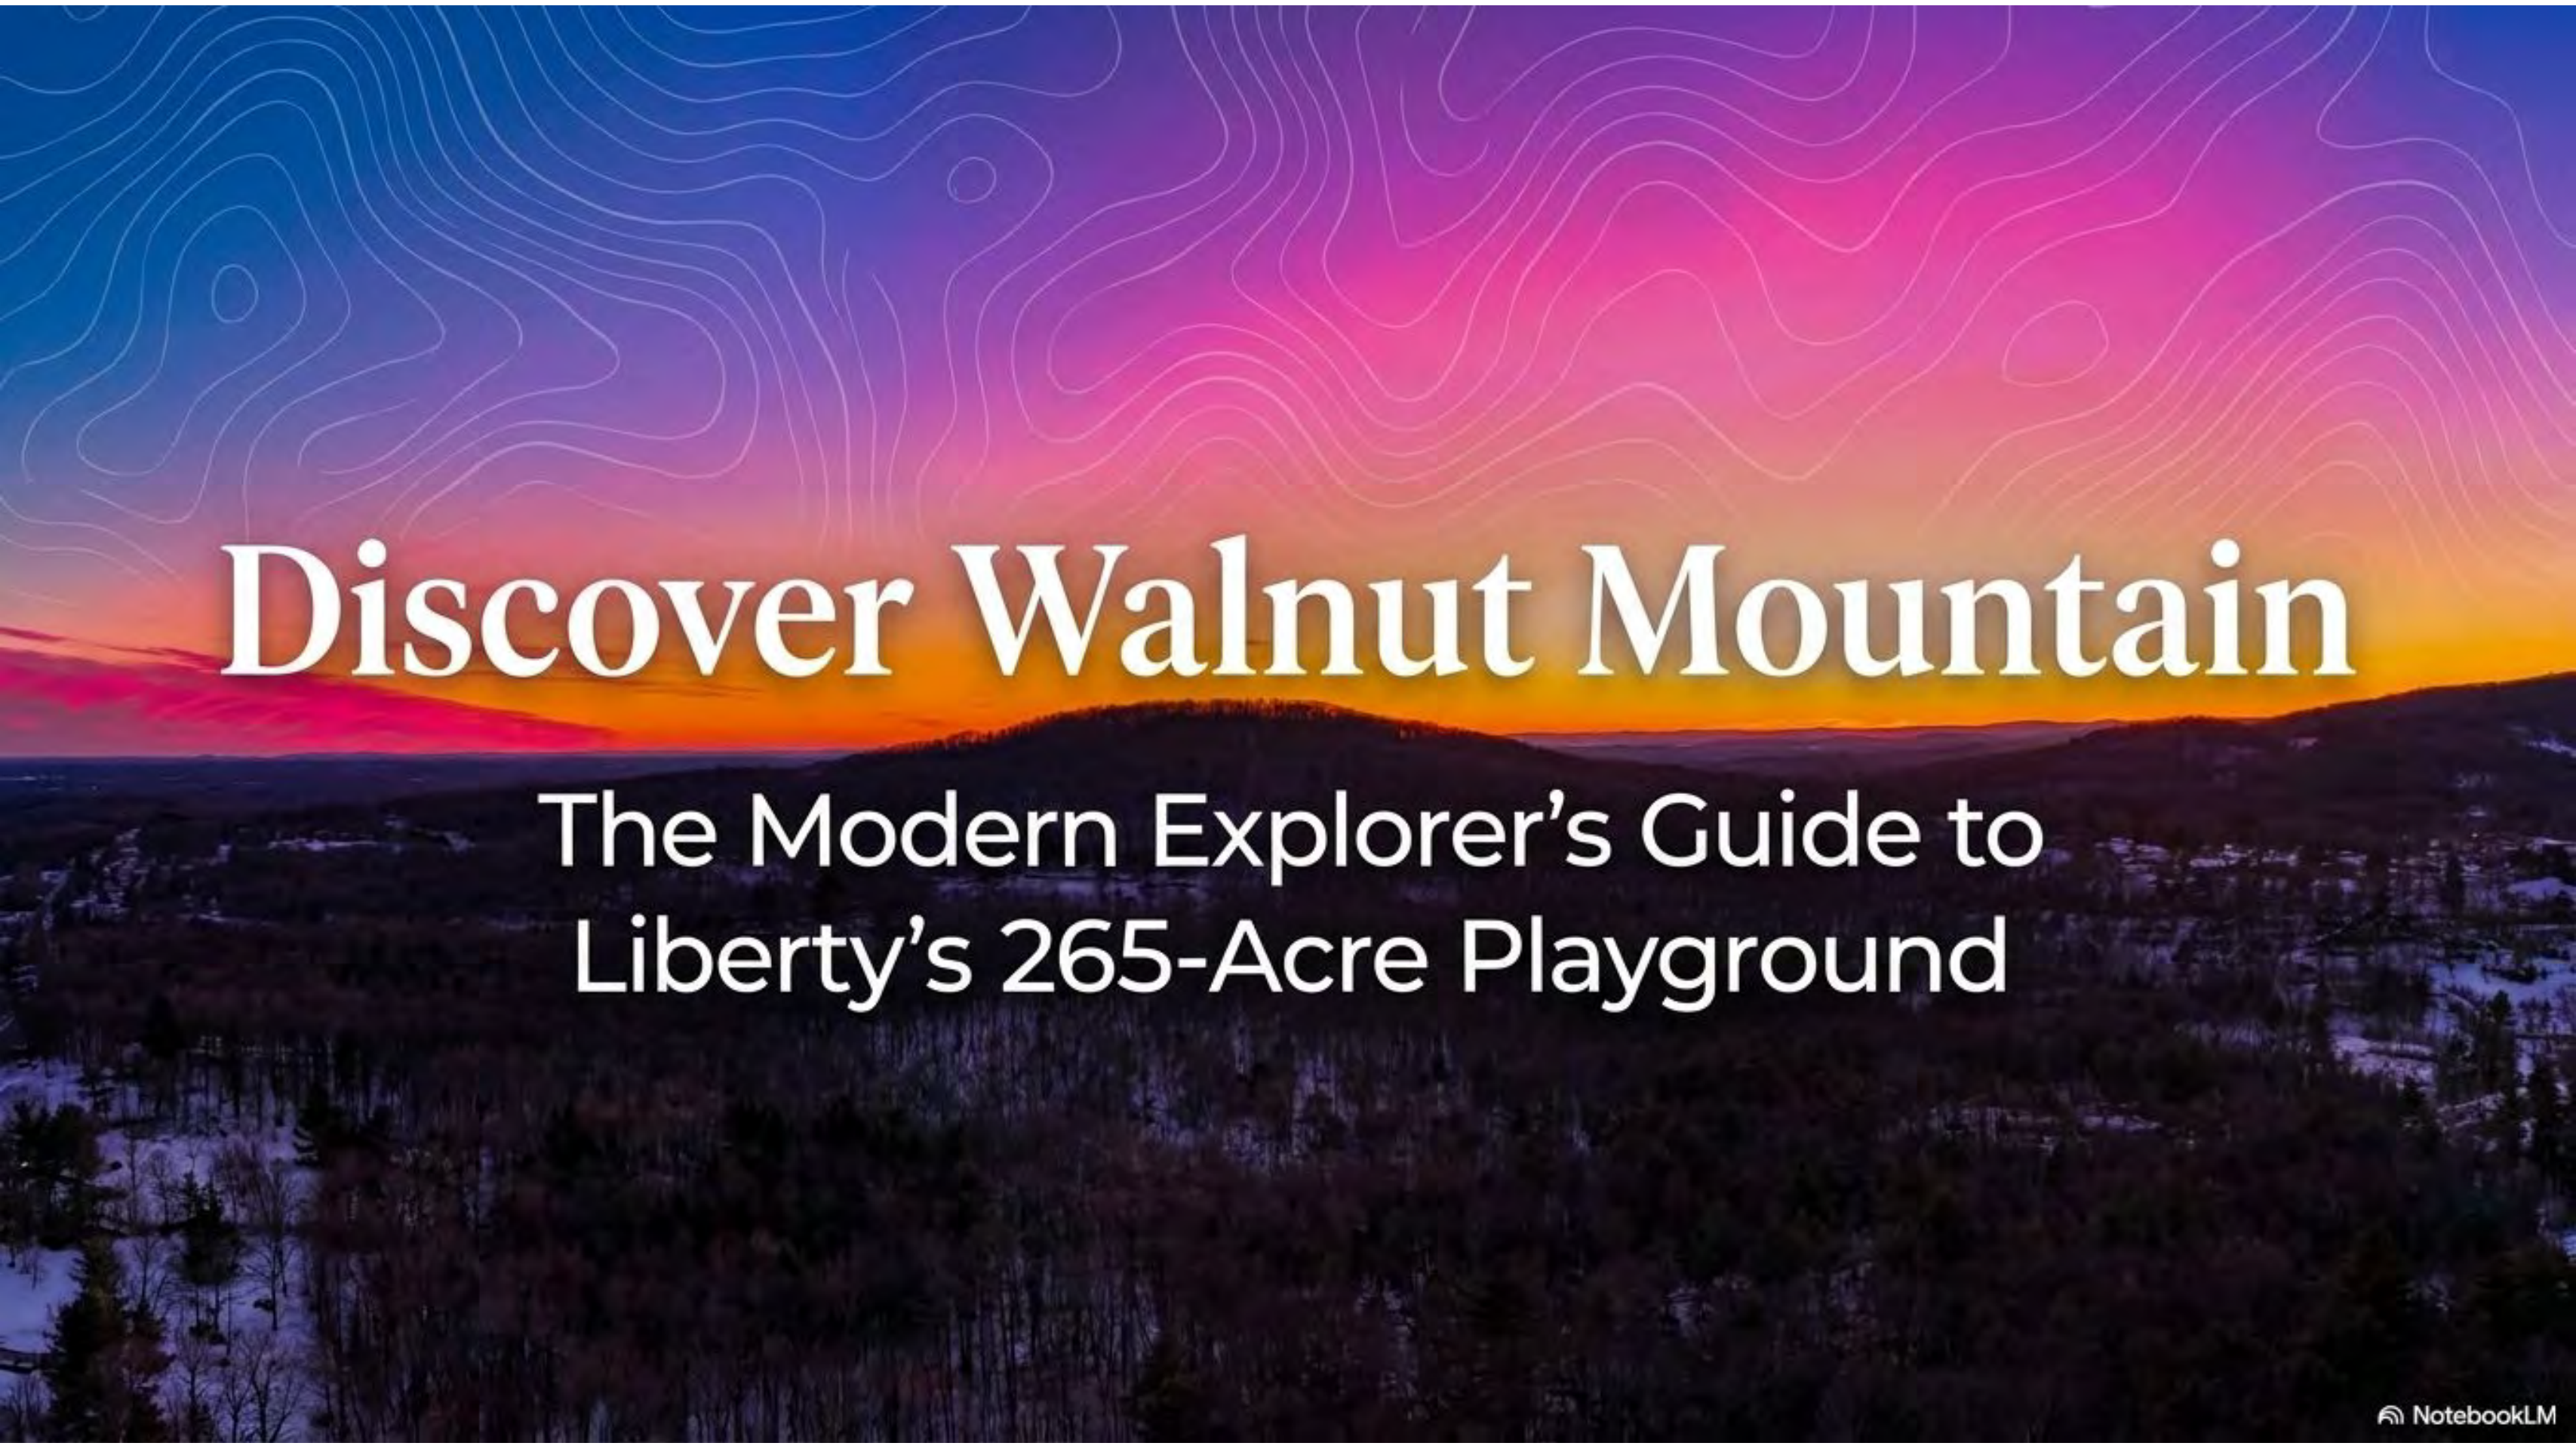

Serving children ages 5-13 from June to August. Integrates outdoor learning, community socialization, and optional swimming lessons in a safe, structured environment.

Organized Athletics

Home to the Liberty Cal Ripken Baseball and Softball League. The facilities host multi-generational community gatherings, teaching youth teamwork, resilience, and civic pride.

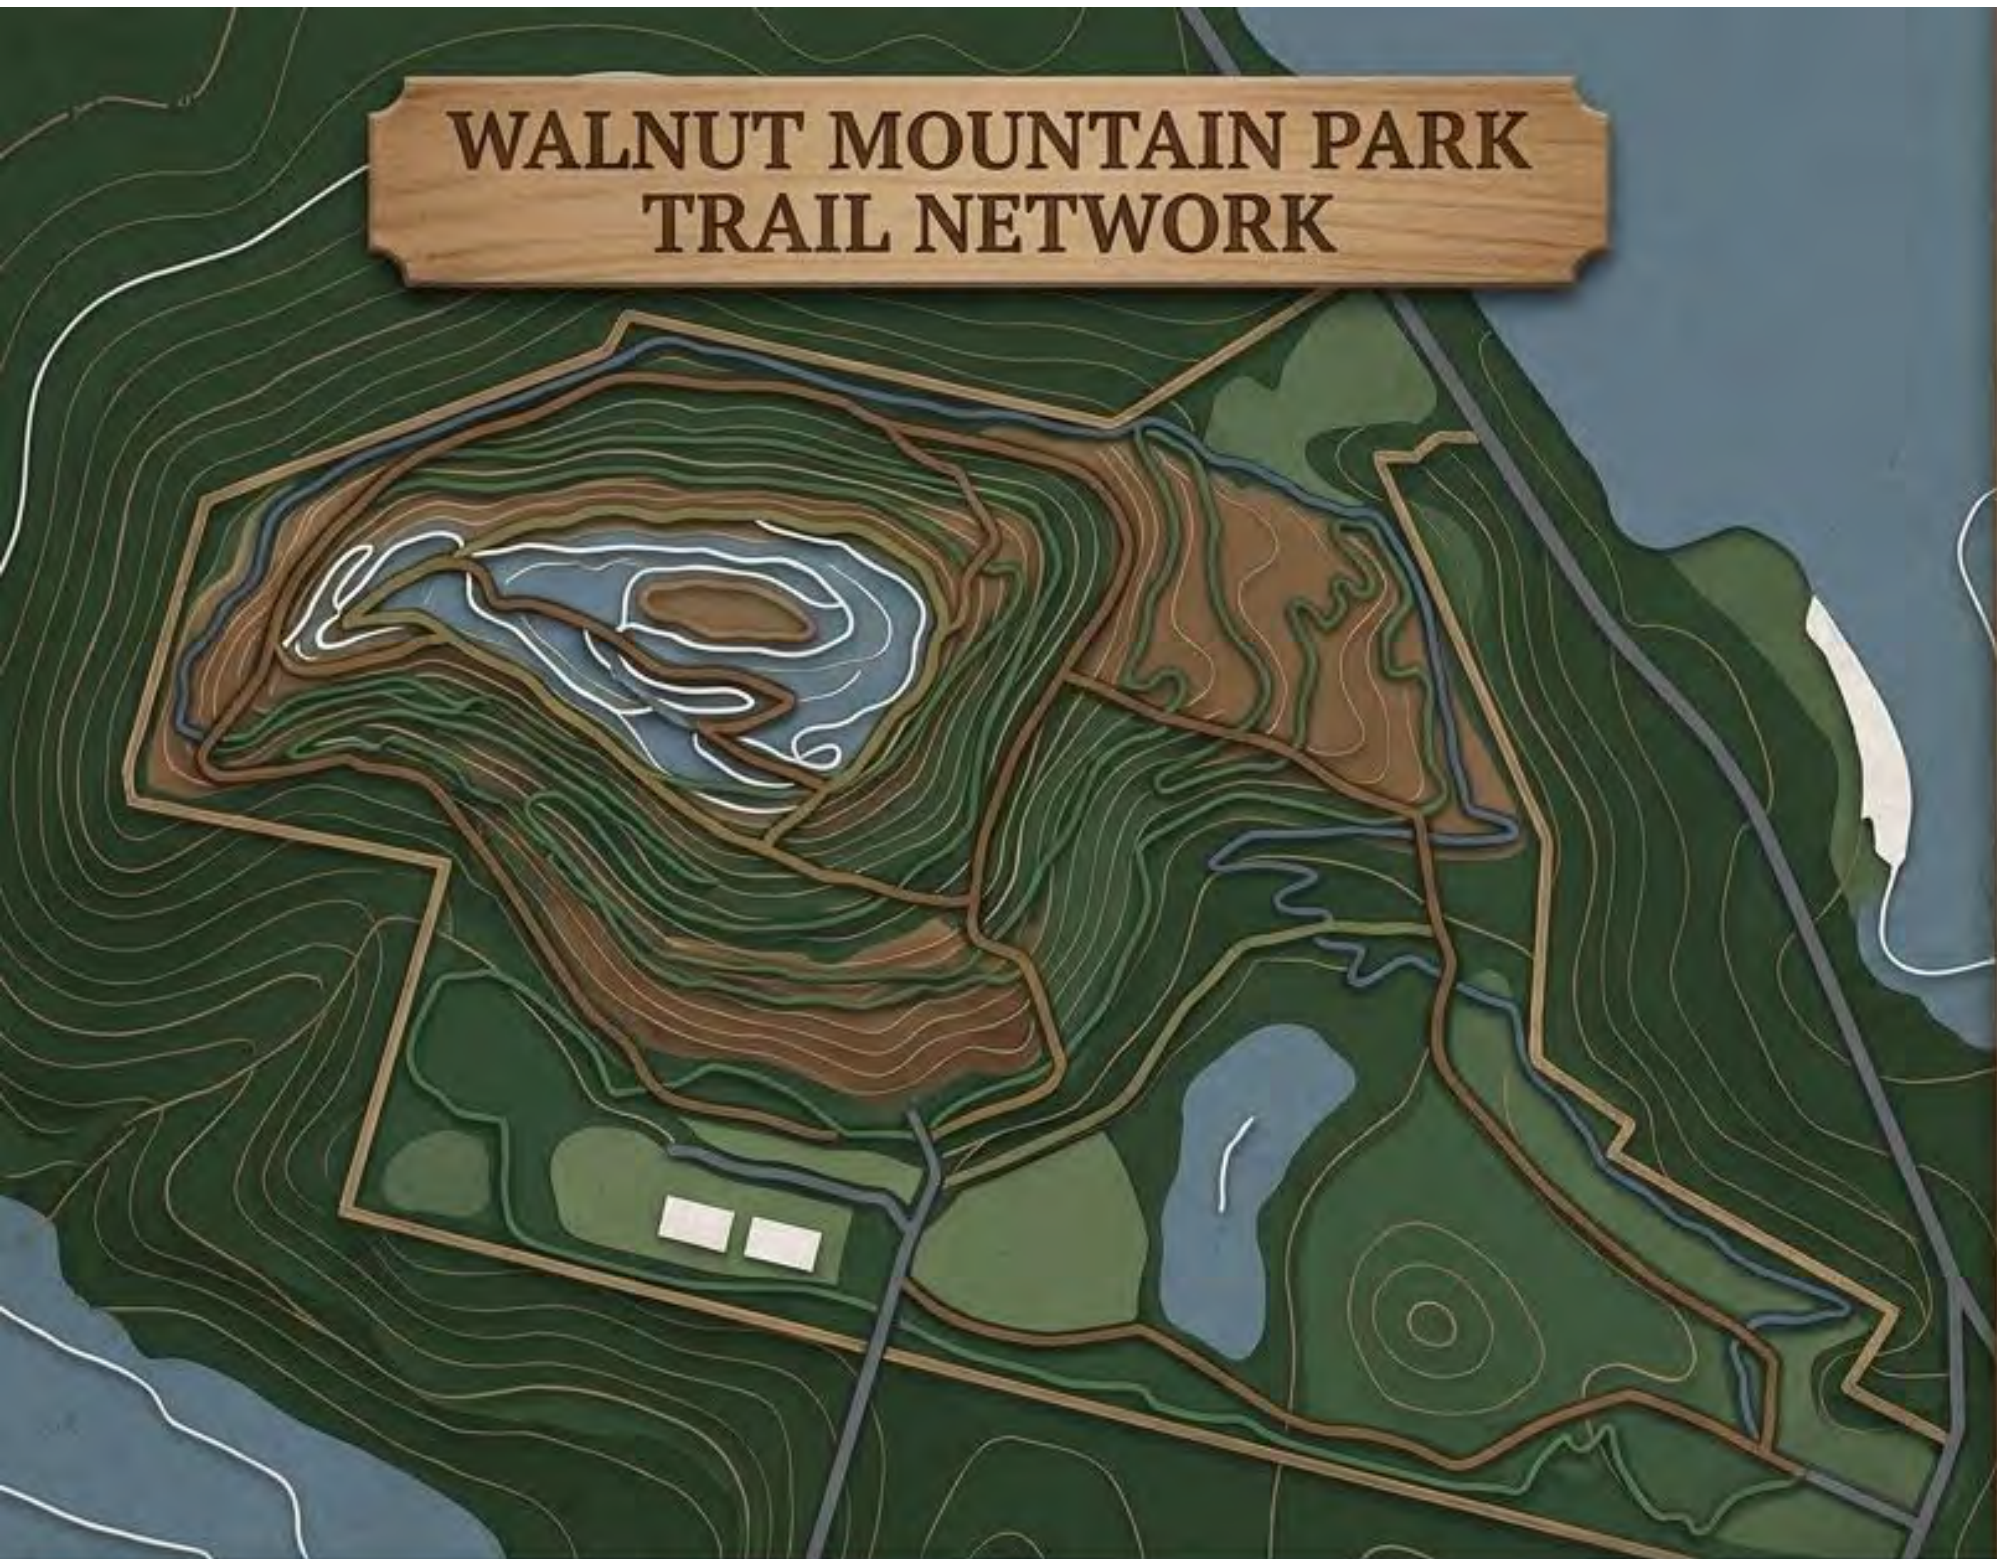

Marketing & Visibility Strategy: Maximize participation through updated entrance branding, active social media, and local partnerships (e.g., Rotary) to ensure these assets are fully utilized.

The Hidden Gem: 9-Hole Disc Golf Course

Whether you call it Disc Golf or Frisbee Golf, the concept is simple: throw a specialized disc into a metal basket.

Currently a 9-hole course (with discussions for an 'upper 9'), it manages to feel much larger due to the rugged, beautiful terrain of the Catskills.

A mile-long, self-guided journey blending local history, nature, and education.

The trail follows the original carriage road that once transported Victorian guests up the mountain, culminating at the old hotel's stone foundation.

Hamlet Focus: Swan Lake Park

An anchor asset with incredible potential to become a premier community destination. Situated on the water, the site currently hosts a mix of beautifully maintained serene spaces and aging recreational infrastructure.

The Heritage Anchor

A historical shed that distinctly highlights the rich Borscht Belt history of Swan Lake, adding unique cultural and educational weight.

The Serene Boardwalk

Offers a peaceful, passive experience alongside beautifully maintained greenspace.

The foundational elements for a premium cultural park are already fully operational and meticulously preserved.

The Infrastructure Deficit limits community utility.

Deteriorating Surface

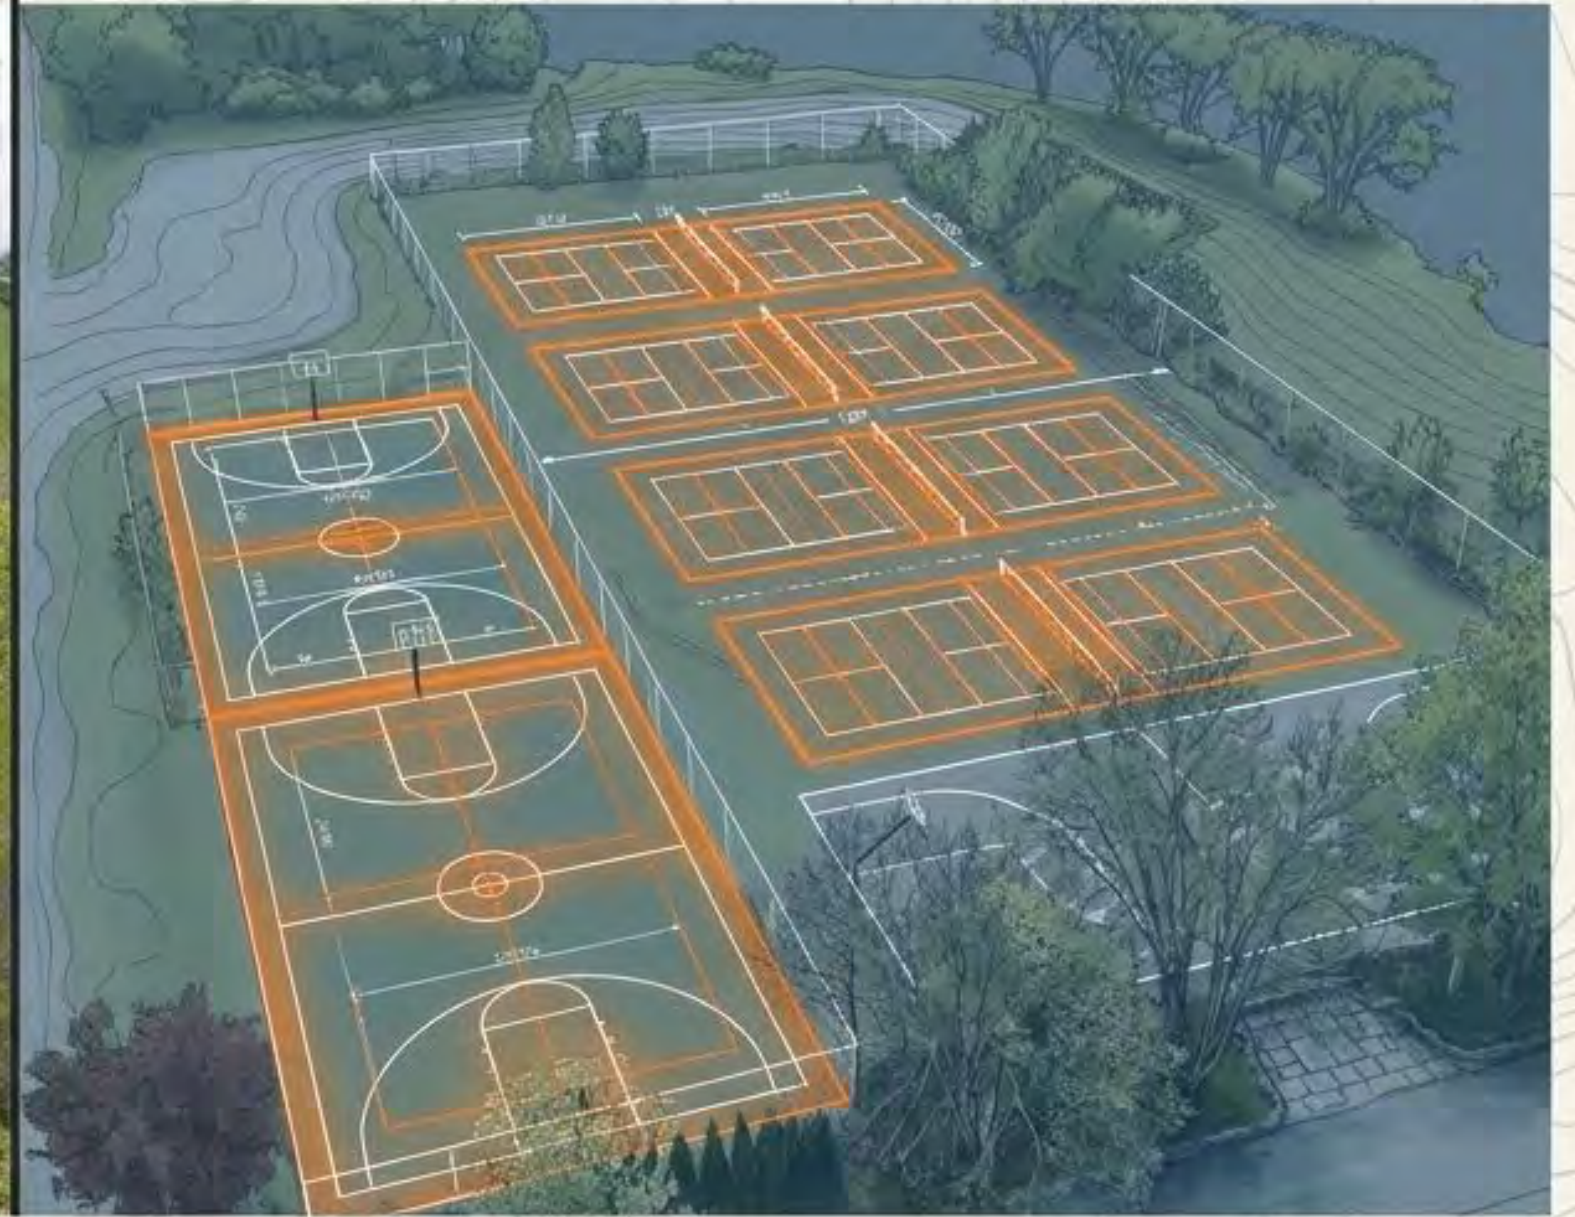

Severe structural cracking across the tennis and basketball footprint limits safe usage and discourages active recreation.

Underutilized Footprint

A massive, pre-graded, and fenced area that is failing to attract multi-generational daily activity.

Swan Lake: Current Baseline vs. The Catalyst

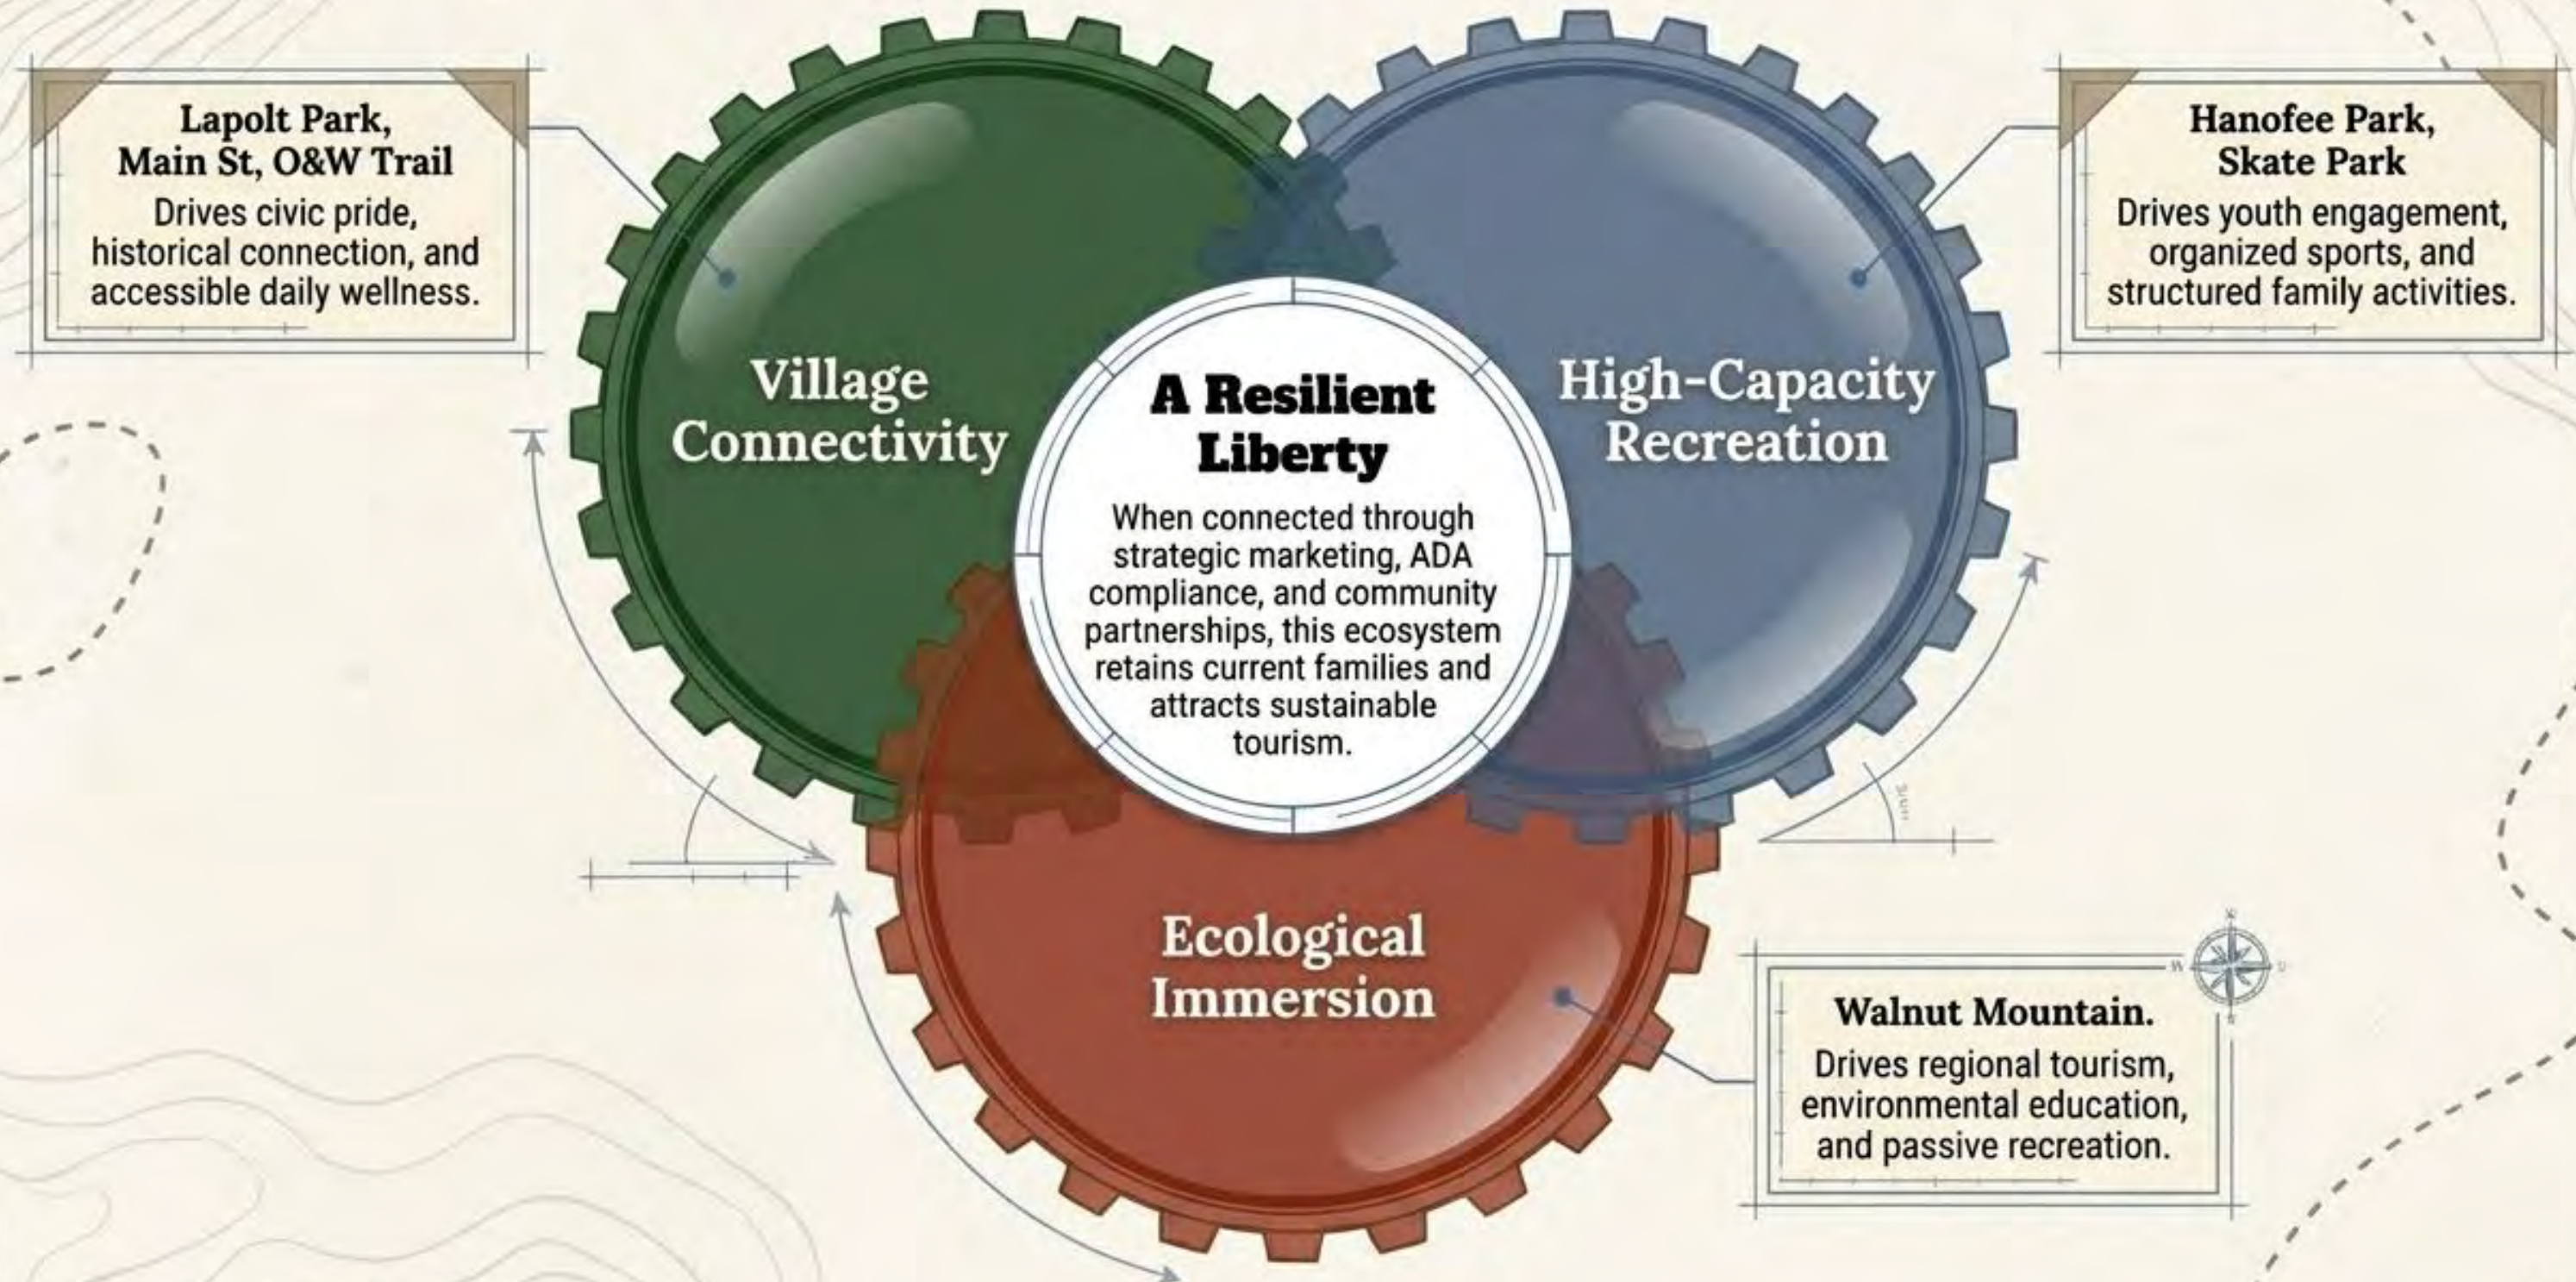

The Baseline (Current State)	The Catalyst (Future Potential)
✓ Rich Borscht Belt heritage preservation ✓ Beautifully maintained, serene boardwalk ✗ Deteriorating, low-utility active-recreation infrastructure (tennis/basketball)	➔ Introduction of modern pickleball courts ➔ Multi-generational attraction and high daily utilization ➔ Transformation into a highly active community hub that complements the serene perimeter.

The Blueprint: Activating the Footprint.

Converting the aging courts to dedicated pickleball infrastructure instantly modernizes the park's utility, creating a magnet for residents of all ages while utilizing the existing pre-graded footprint.

The Ecosystem of Exchange

The Liberty Convergence

Transforming Isolated Local Assets into an Integrated Tourism Ecosystem

A Strategic Proposal for the Township of Liberty

Disconnected Assets

Liberty possesses incredible, high-value assets—18 distinct art installations, 4 historic heritage markers, and expansive parks. However, these operate as isolated attractions rather than a unified ecosystem.

The Town of Thompson actively captures market share through coordinated visitor campaigns for their parks, a strategy Liberty currently lacks.

The Integration Imperative

How do we engineer a coordinated community campaign?

The solution is not building new attractions, but seamlessly linking our existing art, history, and natural parks into a singular, highly marketable day-trip economy that directly funds local restaurants and businesses.

Liberty is the Epicenter of Sullivan County Tourism

Liberty and its hamlets host one of the largest single concentrations of Dove Trail installations in the entire county, anchored by the central Visitors Center.

Anchor Asset I: The Sullivan Catskills Dove Trail

The Origin

Launched in 2019 to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Woodstock Music and Art Fair in nearby Bethel.

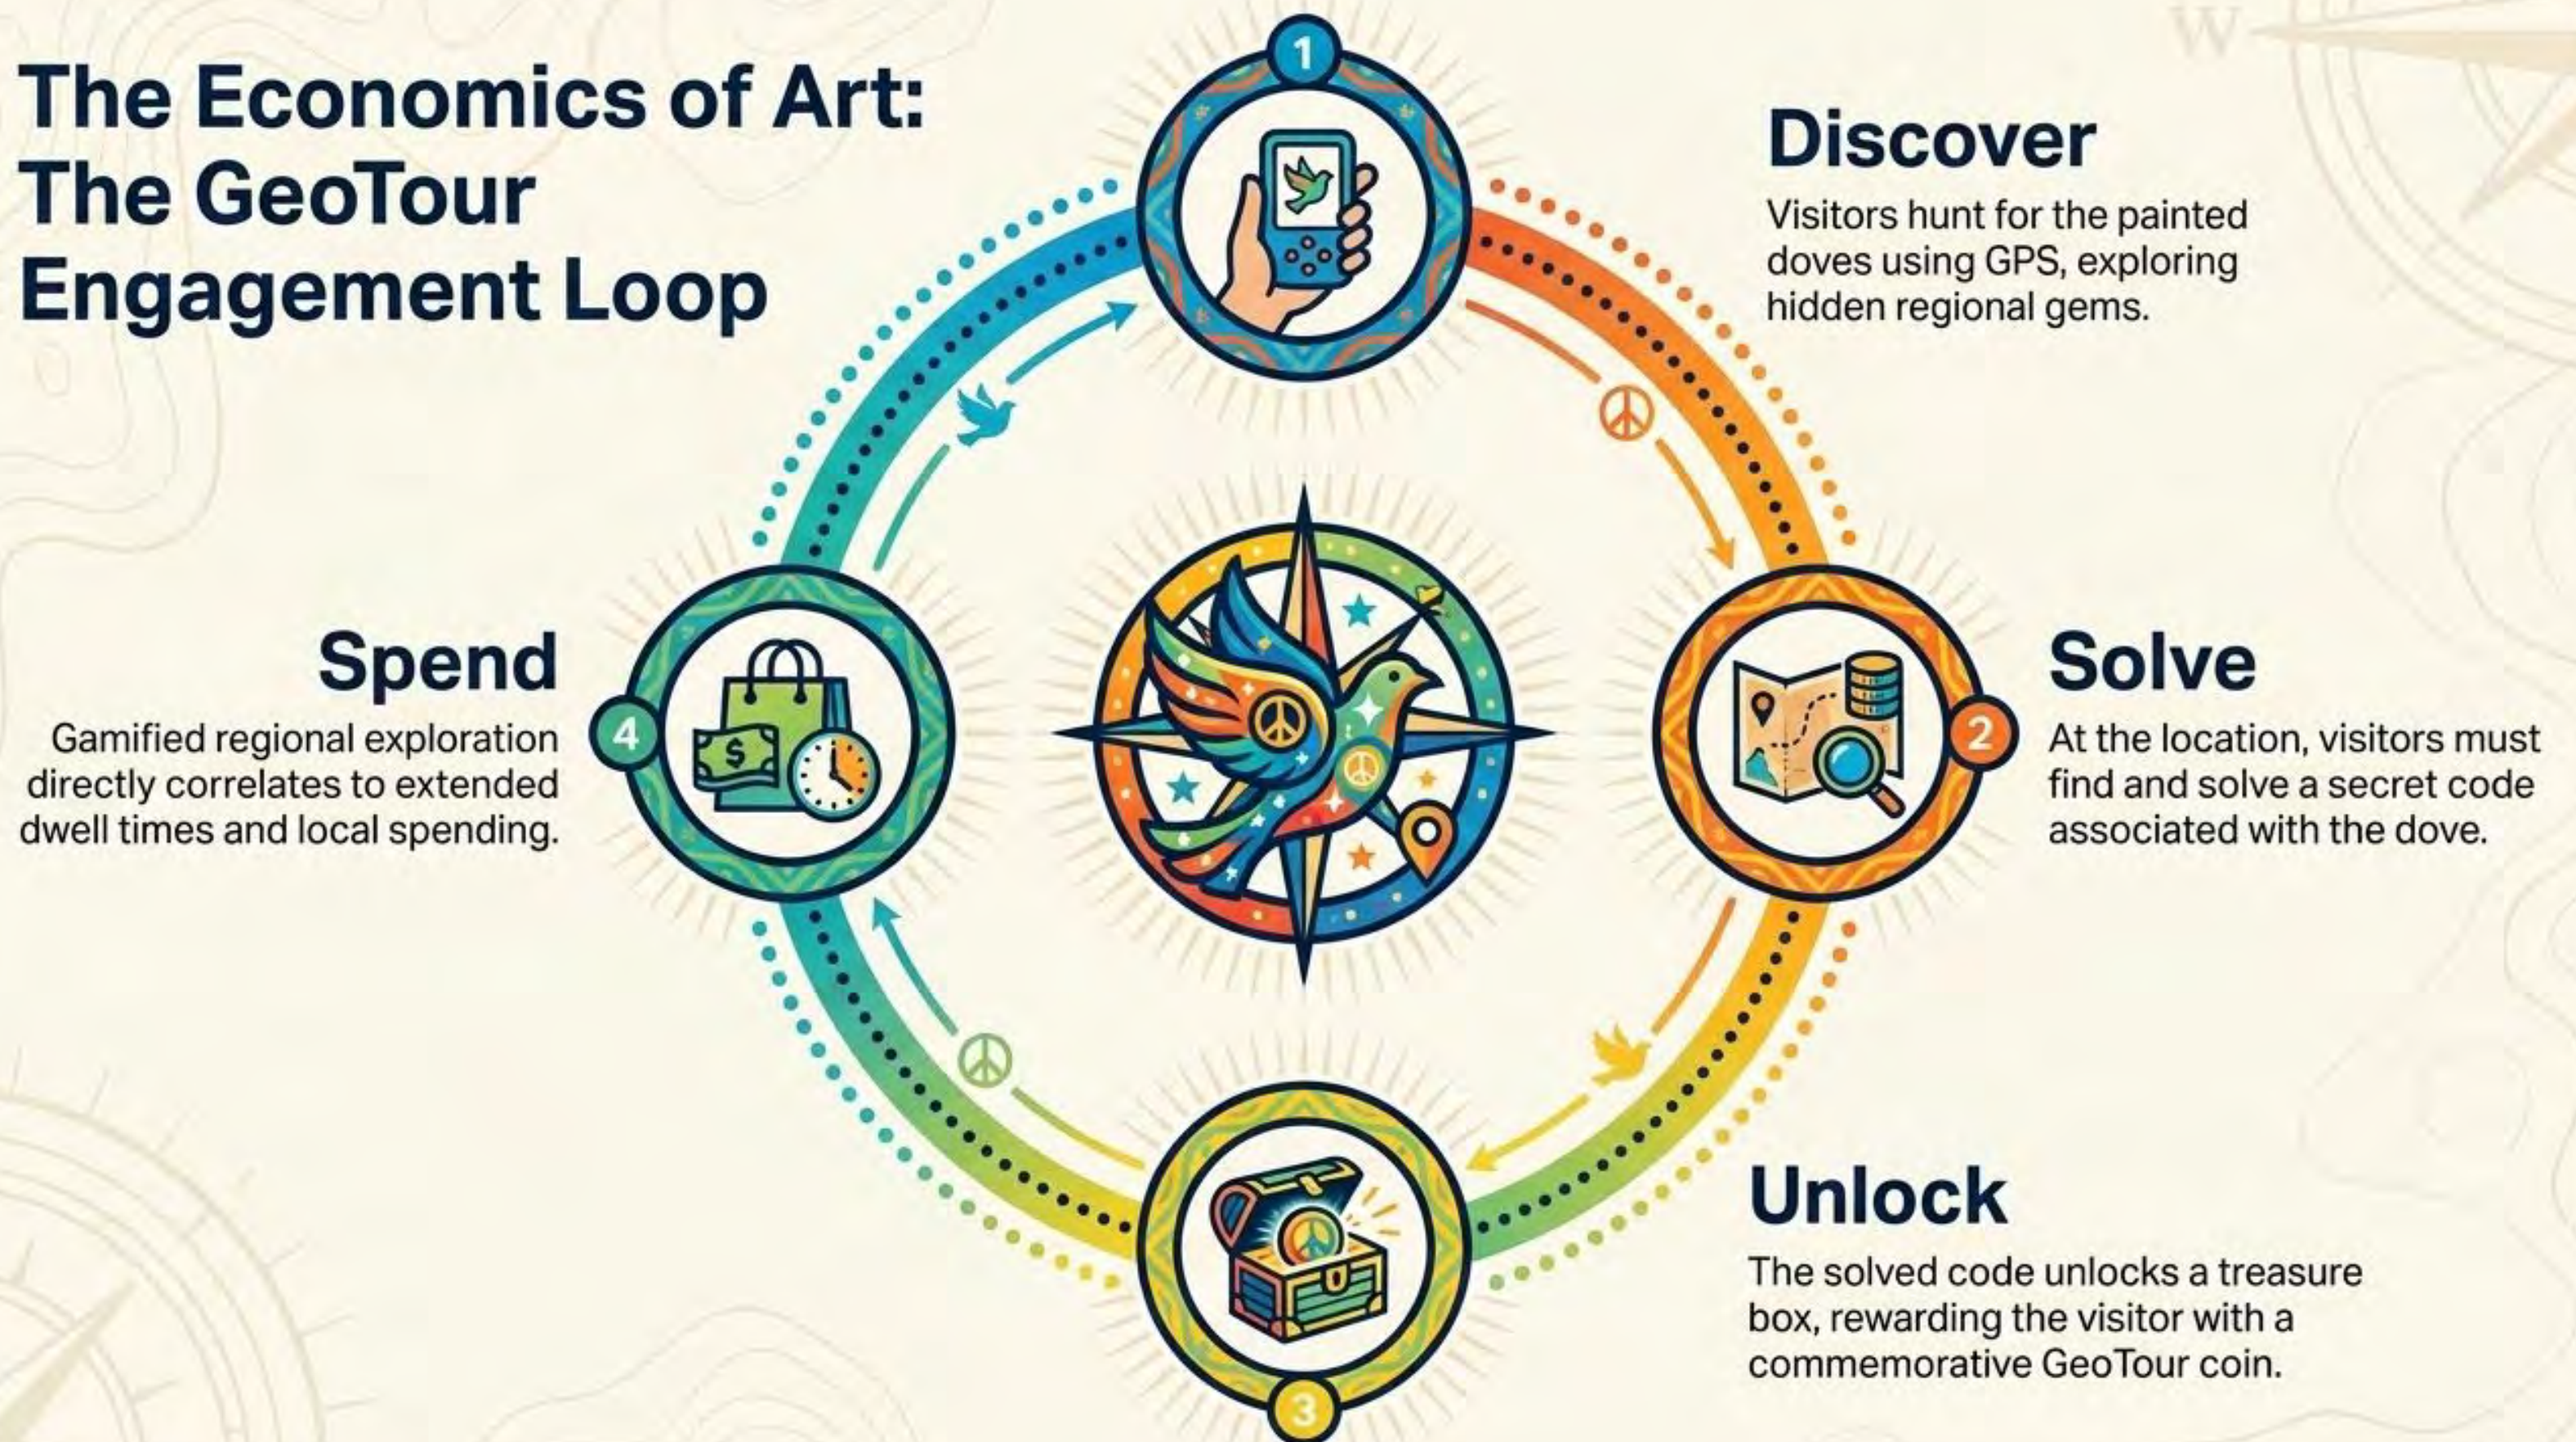

The Scale

What began as 50 doves has grown to a massive trail of 80+ installations county-wide.

The Form

Each dove is a 5-foot-tall fiberglass canvas, exclusively hand-painted by local artists to reflect the specific arts, healthcare, and small business identity of its host community.

The Economics of Art: The GeoTour Engagement Loop

Anchor Asset II: The Borscht Belt Historical Legacy

Driven by exclusion from existing establishments in the 1920s, Jewish entrepreneurs created a sanctuary that became the preeminent American summer resort destination until the 1970s.

“A strong influence on American culture, particularly in the realm of entertainment, music, and sports.”

Tracing the Epicenters: Historic Scale in Modern Liberty

Swan Lake

Once the Golden Age crown jewel. Home to the Stevensville (built 1924, grew to entertainment powerhouse by the 1980s), the Commodore, the stylish President, and 42 bungalow colonies.

Parksville

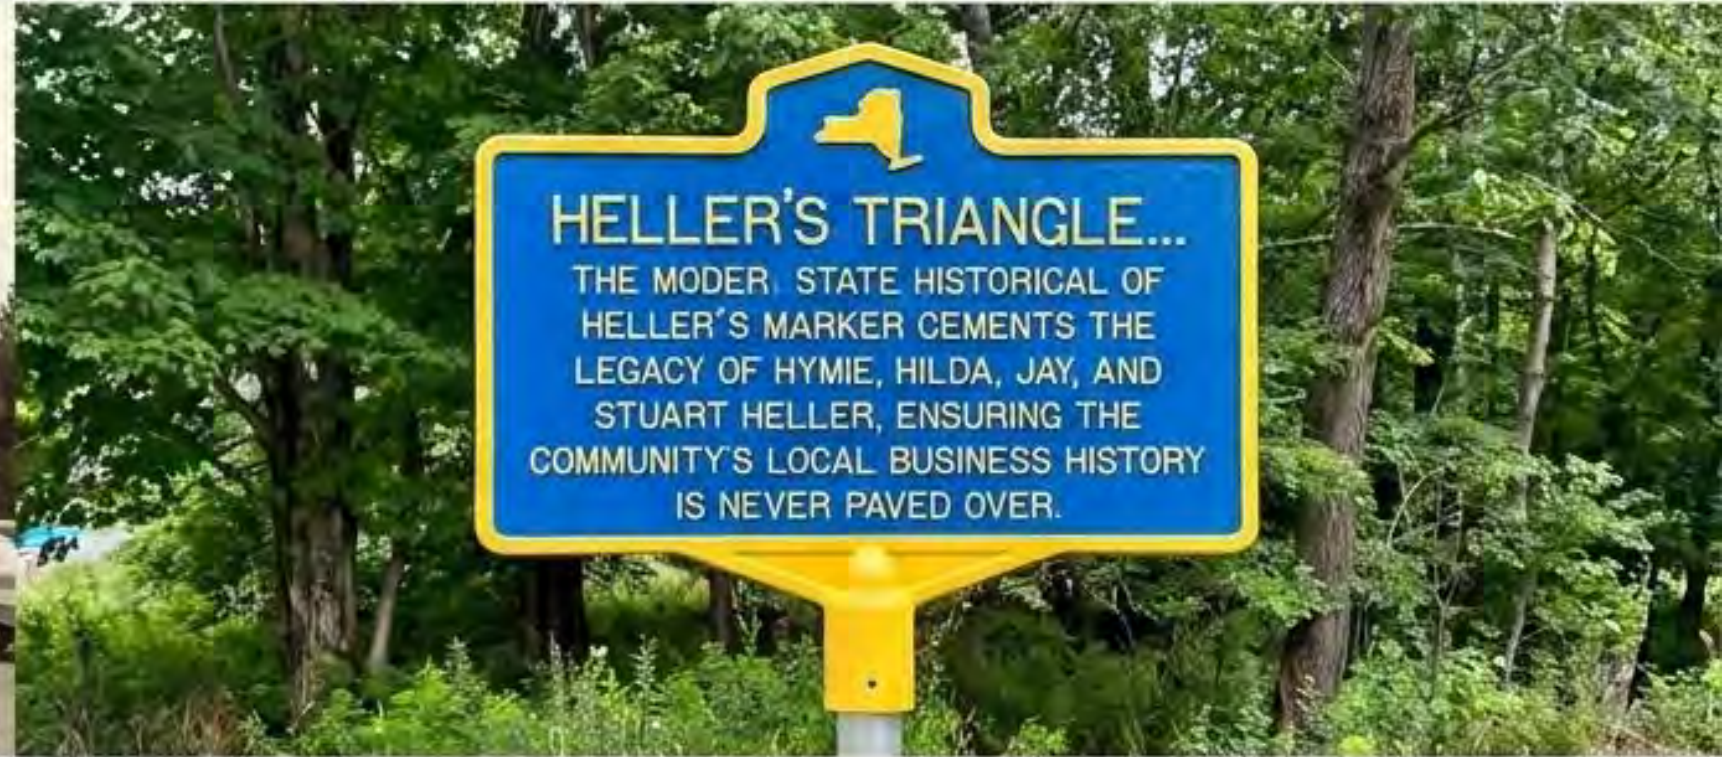

Arrived via O&W Railroad in late 19th century. Home to Young's Gap (1928, 600-guest capacity, indoor pool) and 14 legacy bungalow colonies before closing in the 1960s with Route 17 construction.

Ferndale

The next chapter. New historical marker officially designated and coming in 2026.

Preserving Local Memory: The Triangle Diner (1938–1991)

The Location

Nestled precisely at the triangle where Grossinger's resort and the town of Liberty met.

The Legacy

A beloved landmark and iconic waystation for thousands traveling the Borscht Belt.

The Honorees

The modern marker cements the legacy of Hymie, Hilda, Jay, and Stuart Heller, ensuring the community's local business history is never paved over.

The Dual-Engine Tourism Matrix

Dimension	The Dove Trail	The Borscht Belt Markers
Era Celebrated	1969 (Woodstock)	1920s–1970s (Golden Age)
Core Theme	Peace, Art & Unity	Heritage, Community & Prestige
Local Density	18 Installations in Liberty	4 Markers (Expanding to 5 in 2026)
Engagement Mechanism	Gamified GeoTour & Photography	Educational Heritage & Storytelling

Liberty uniquely captures two completely distinct tourism demographics simultaneously—the active, gamified explorer and the educational heritage traveler.

The Third Pillar: Underutilized Natural Infrastructure

While our 18 Doves and expanding Historic Markers provide the culture, Liberty's expansive parks and recreational spaces provide the canvas.

The Gap

Currently, these natural assets are treated simply as local amenities rather than high-value tourism magnets. They lack the gamified engagement of the GeoTour or the structured narrative of the Marker Project.

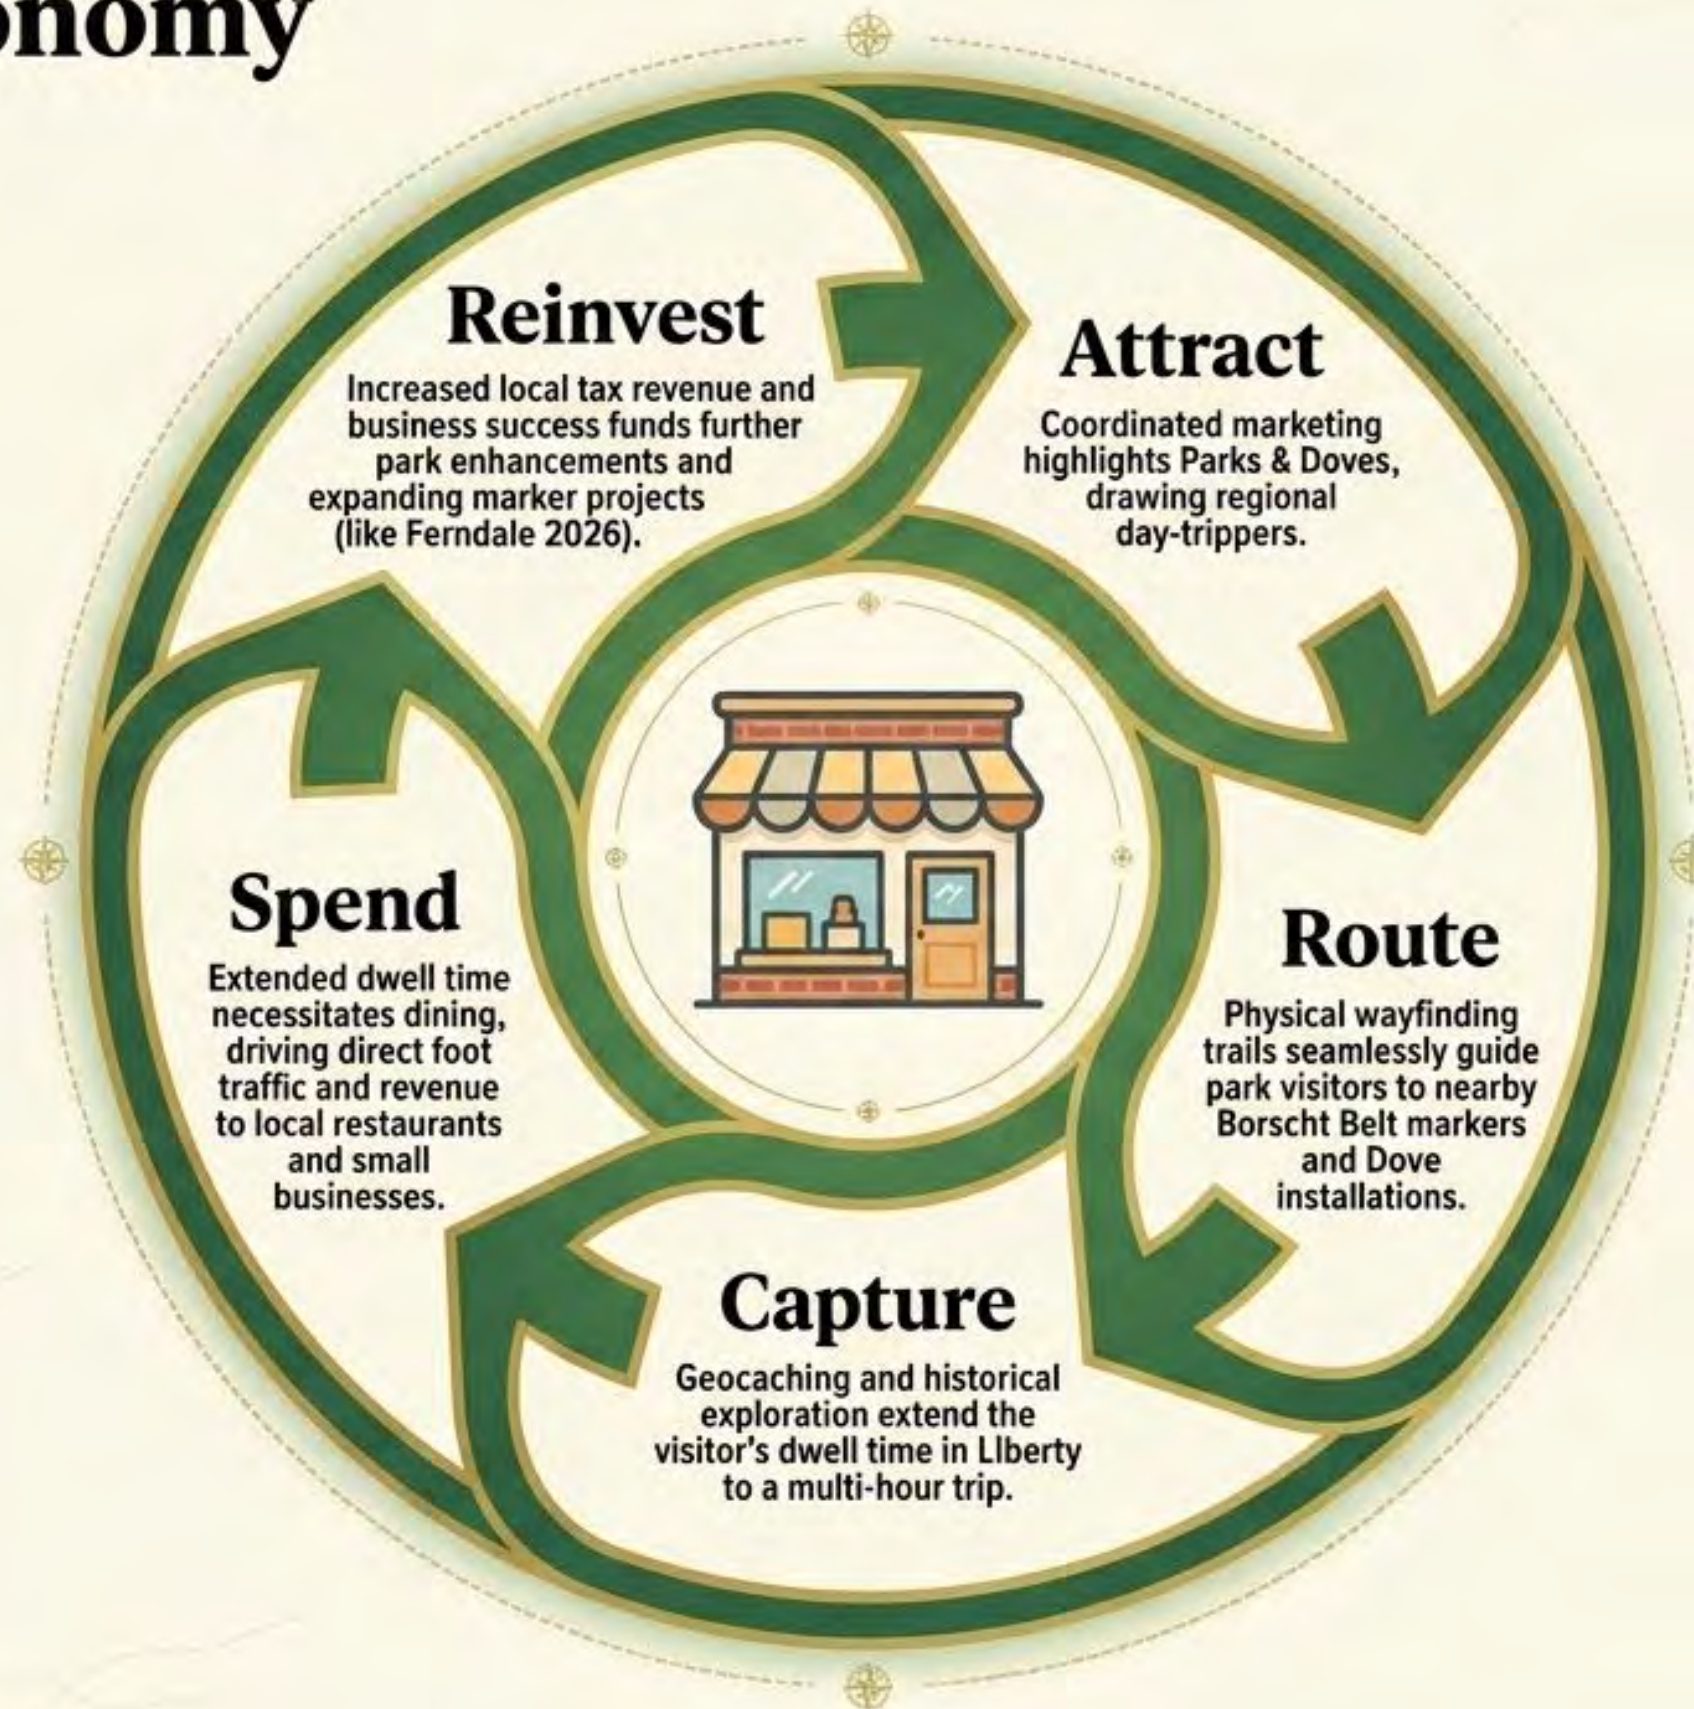

The Liberty Convergence: A Ready-Made Destination

Liberty does not need to spend millions building new tourist attractions.

We simply need to market the convergence of our existing art, history, and nature as a singular, cohesive itinerary.

The Local Economy Flywheel

Activating the Ecosystem: Strategic Next Steps

Coordinated Visibility.

Emulate the Town of Thompson's success by publishing unified Liberty Day-Trip materials that map the Parks, 18 Doves, and 4 Markers together.

Physical Wayfinding.

Implement a unified signage system bridging the gap between recreational park spaces and the cultural/historical installations.

Local Business Integration.

Formally partner with local restaurants to offer Trail Anchor promotions, ensuring the tourism foot traffic translates directly into community economic growth.

Liberty: A Portrait in Four Seasons.

Winter: Structure

Spring: Renewal

A Town for All Seasons.

Summer: Vitality

Autumn: Topography

The Township of Liberty is centrally located in Sullivan County and is often recognized as the “Heart of Sullivan County.” As the heart of the county, Liberty has a unique opportunity to showcase and capitalize on its natural beauty, parks, recreational assets, small businesses, and rich local history to strengthen tourism, community pride, and economic development. Through the development of a coordinated marketing and tourism strategy, the Township can enhance visibility and encourage both residents and visitors to explore all that Liberty has to offer. This strategy could include the use of targeted billboards, brochures, social media campaigns, tourism maps, and promotional materials that highlight local parks, trails, historic sites, community events, and recreational opportunities. By creating park-specific promotional materials and partnering with local businesses, organizations, and community groups, Liberty can establish a unified brand identity that promotes the Township as a destination for outdoor recreation, family activities, and local experiences. Collaborative partnerships can also support sponsorship opportunities, beautification projects, park improvements, event programming, and expanded amenities.

In addition, the Township can pursue strategic partnerships with tourism agencies, schools, nonprofits, and private businesses to help enhance park facilities, expand recreational programming, and create experiences that attract visitors year-round. Investments in marketing, infrastructure, and community collaboration will not only strengthen tourism but also contribute to economic growth, quality of life, and long-term sustainability for the Township of Liberty.

Liberty is beautiful. we need to capitalize on its beauty by marketing its assets.
